TRUMBULL AND SCHURZ.

Civil Service Reform in Theory and Practice.

[From the New York Times, Sept. 14th.]

We publish below very striking testimony to show how sudden and recent was the conversion of Senators Schurz and Trumbull to the immutable principles of civil service reform. According to that system no person in office is to be removed except for the reason that he is incompetent, and, in case of vacancies, those in lower grades are to be promoted, while new appointments are to be made solely upon merit, which is to be ascertained by personal examination, and not from recommendations. And yet the lists which we publish show that the two pure-minded Senators have recommended to the corrupt administration of General Grant enough appointments to fill the entire consular and diplomatic service, to say nothing of the urged for territorial governors, postmasters, internal revenue officers, and clerks. They ignore the sound system of promotion as a reward for faithful service in subordinate position, and demand the appointment of their friends at once to the highest grades. They pay no attention to the fact that there are no vacancies save when they express the opinion that an incumbent should be removed who is guilty of the atrocious crime of not agreeing with them in political sentiments.

We do not say that at the time Messrs. Schurz and Trumbull made these recommendations there was necessarily anything wrong in their so doing. We refer to it for no such reason, but we do refer to it to show the utter cant and hypocrisy which characterize the present course of these gentlemen. The best that can be said for them is that they have very recently—and we might add very suspiciously—had their eyes opened to the evil of their ways and have reformed. But at the same time they not only refuse to admit that there could be any possible excuse for the old system, but they loudly insist that nobody except themselves has reformed; that they are the only simon-pure reformers, and all others are pretenders and hypocrites.

Of this pair of pattern Reformers, it appears that Schurz desired his friends to have nineteen Consulships, eight Missions, two Governorships of Territories, two Marshalships, one District Attorneyship, four Indian Agencies, two Surveyor Generals' offices, one Register, one Pension Agency, one Chaplaincy, twenty-seven Clerkships, twenty Postmasterships, three Revenue Collectorships, and two Assessorships, and one Surveyorship of St. Louis; but only one of his friends was sufficiently humble to be a laborer. One of Schurz's Governors was "Jim" Ashley, while some of his other friends are well known to fame or infamy, one of his clerks having been removed for stealing, which, in Senator Schurz's eyes was, we presume, a less crime than that of being a Democrat; for his ground for asking for the removal of one Collector was that he was a member of that party. In all, Mr. Schurz wanted places for 104 friends, and he got his full share.

Mr. Trumbull wanted places for nineteen Consuls, a Consul-General, two Commercial Agents, including that in San Domingo, twenty nine for Trustees and four Postal Agents, two Judges, two Marshals, two District Attorneys, three Indian Agents, two Pension Agents, one Surveyor-General, three Superintendents of Indian Affairs, one Librarian, six Clerks, one Governor, one Claim Agent, seven Assessors, five Collectors and two Supervisors of Internal Revenue, while for one of his friends all that he begged was some office, no matter what. Mr. Trumbull put himself in writing as to ninety-seven friends, including a brother-in-law. His son he did not trust to paper. He went and made personal threats to the President as to him.

Sumner and Trumbull as They Were.

The Boston Journal reproduces extracts from the speeches of Senators Sumner and Trumbull in 1870 and 1871. The sentiments then uttered are timely and pertinent now. Senator McCreery introduced a bill to restore to the widow of General Lee the estate of Arlington, on which is a great national cemetery, where repose the remains of thousands of the Union dead. On that occasion Mr. Sumner said:

"But there is one practical remark I would make. I would call the attention of the Senate to the character of this proposition in another aspect. We all know the political associations of the honorable Senator (Mr. McCreery) who has introduced it. May we not regard this resolution as showing the sentiments of his associates? Does it not prefigure the policy that they would establish should they obtain power in the government in the country, as threatened by the Senator from Delaware, as threatened by other Senators and by other associates of these Senators? Do we not see here the policy that would be established—a policy which is to take the old rebellion by the hand, which is to instal it in the high places of power in the Executive Mansion, in these halls of Congress? Now, sir, could I make myself heard from one end of this country to the other, from Massachusetts to Louisiana, it would be to warn against that political combination which shows its hands now in the proposition of the Senator from Kentucky. Take warning, I would say to my countrymen everywhere, not only at the South but at the North (but especially at the South) that the political party with which the Senator is associated, should it obtain power in this nation, will establish the policy of which his resolution is the representative."

A year later than this speech, and less than a year ago, Mr. Trumbull said:

"The ship of State, ten years ago, was crippled—it had been run on the quicksands and rocks, and was falling to pieces. The Republican party took possession of her. They have been sailing her for the last ten years, not only over the boisterous waves of political commotion, but through the terrific tornadoes of civil war, and they have brought the noble old ship upon a peaceful ocean, strengthened in all her parts; magnificent in all her proportions; and there she now rides in peace and prosperity; and there is outside, the Democratic party, beating around among the seas, driven for ten years hither and thither by every wind of passion, taking a new departure, and seeking to find the old ship. If you believe that they can man her better, and sail her more safely, put them in possession of her; but if you think men who saved her are the best to steer her safely hereafter into the haven of peace and prosperity for the American people, then keep them at the helm."

Burnside's Tribute to Hartranft.

In closing his grand speech at the Soldiers' and Sailors' National Convention at Pittsburgh, General Burnside paid the following earnest and glowing tribute to "his old comrade and tried friend," General Hartranft, the Republican candidate for Governor. He said:

And now, comrades of Pennsylvania, I desire to express to you a hope that comes from my heart. Gen. Hartranft, your candidate for Governor, is my old comrade and tried friend. He went into the field with us at the first battle of the war, and joined the North Carolina expedition at Annapolis. From that time until the end of the war we were together on the fields of Roanoke, Newbern, South Mountain, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Vicksburg, Knoxville, Cambell's Station, Blue Spring, the Rapidan campaign, from the Wilderness to Appomattox Courthouse. He proved himself an efficient and gallant soldier. Comrades of Pennsylvania, it is clearly your duty, without reference to politics, to see that so gallant and true a commander is not harmed by the malicious slanders of designing politicians. You have but for a moment to think of the course pursued during the war by his opponent, Mr. Buckalew, in order to find the strongest reasons for a firm support of Gen. Hartranft. Comrades, my personal duties require me to leave you before the deliberations of our meeting are concluded. As you all know, I have never in my life solicited an office, and never expect to do so. I am, therefore, speaking unbiased sentiments. I beg of you to make every honest effort to re-elect Gen. Grant, and to elect Gen. Hartranft to the office of Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It gives me great pleasure to announce that the National Committee propose to you as your Chairman our gallant comrade, so well known to every soldier in the land, Gen. Hawley, of Connecticut. And now, comrades, let us join in an appeal to our late enemies in the field, the Confederate soldiers, to step in front to obliterate the great wrong they have done their country.

What Gen. Hawley Says and Gen. Wilson Endorses—One of the Incorruptible Men of the Senate.

Special Dispatch to the New York Times.

TROY, N. Y., September 15.—The Whig in the morning will contain the following: "As the Credit Mobilier story is directly pointed against the Republican candidate for Vice President, we wrote to Senator Wilson last week asking that he could enable us to give it an authoritative contradiction. We have received from him the following reply:

NATICK, September 12, 1872.

To the Editors of the Troy Whig:

I send you a speech of Gen. Hawley. His statement is correct, but I do not wish to write any more letters, and do not intend to do so, if I am charged with every crime. Since I went to the Senate in 1855 I have made one speculation: I bought a house lot in my town for $150 and sold it for $400.

(Signed) H. WILSON.

General Hawley's speech contains the following:

"Henry Wilson has been seventeen years in the Senate, and I defy the world to prove that he is worth $10,000 to-day. I defy the world to prove that he ever took a dollar interest in any measure which has come before Congress. I defy the world to prove that he has a cent's interest in the Northern Pacific, Central Pacific, or Southern Railroad, or in any stocks, bonds, or contracts of any sort. I tell his slanderers to go to Washington and go among the Lobby there, and canvass with the most notorious gamblers, and they will find that among the men that cannot be bought will be the name of Henry Wilson.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

A Man's Clothing Torn from Him by a Revolving Shaft.

Saturday evening about six o'clock Mr. J. B. C. Caudron, of the Pacific Mills, on Twelfth street, met with a most remarkable accident—remarkable from the fact that he was but little injured, and not killed and riddled into a hundred pieces.

With a workman he was engaged in fixing some machinery in the upper story of the mill while it was in motion. He was standing near two of the grain cup-elevators back of which revolves a shaft at the rate of eighty revolutions a minute. Mr. Caudron's sleeve caught on a set screw on this shaft, and in an instant he was drawn toward the elevators. Every revolution wound his sleeve tighter and tighter. Mr. Caudron saw that his only chance was to brace himself against the elevators and let his clothes tear to pieces. This he did, putting his knees firmly against them. The workman who was present made every effort possible to get him loose, but without success. He finally ran down stairs and had the mill stopped, never expecting to see Mr. Caudron alive on his return. When the workman came up stairs he found Mr. Caudron lying on his back on the floor, completely exhausted, and not a stitch of clothing left on him, except a portion of each leg of his pantaloons and his boots. The clothing had been torn from his body piece by piece at every revolution of the shaft, while he had stood firmly and braced himself. It is almost impossible to tear the cloth with the hand, which shows that Mr. Caudron, who is rather advanced in age, must have been endowed with extraordinary strength on this occasion, knowing that it was life or death with him. He was taken down into the office of the mill, and Dr. Wood was sent for, who came and attended to him. On examination it was found that he was not seriously injured. Under his right arm was a spot about five by eight inches, which had been so severely chafed by the cloth, as it was torn from his body, as to be raw almost to the bone. His knees also were very sore from the bracing they had done. Mr. Caudron rode home in a carriage, and to-day he is feeling all right, with the exception of the soreness in his side.—Omaha, Neb., Bee, Sept. 9.

Sallie's Bedtime.

A father, not very far from here, read in the paper the other morning that the Utica girls who want their beaux to go home the same night they call, pull a string at the proper hour which reverses a picture, on the back of which appears the words, "Ten o'clock is my bedtime."

The father, who had a daughter given to late hours when a certain youth sets up and helps her keep them, thought he would try this Utica plan, so he wrote in large characters, on the back of a huge portrait of George Washington, this inscription:

"TEN O'CLOCK IS SALLIE'S BEDTIME.

Then he arranged the picture so that when he attached a string to the frame he could reverse it from his bed-chamber. But when Sallie entered the room an hour later, her æsthetic eye was outraged by observing the portrait of George hanging slightly out of plumb, so to speak, and in adjusting it her father's little game was revealed in all its subtle ingenuity.

Sallie was not a Utica girl, however, so she just went to work and neatly effaced the figure "0," leaving the one standing solitary and upright—which, you will observe, made a few hours difference in her bed-time. That night, as usual, Sallie received a visit from her young man—which his front name it was Harry—and her paternal parent attached his string to G. W.'s portrait and retired to his downy couch.

About ten o'clock, while Henry and Sallie were deeply absorbed in some knotty problem with their heads so contiguous that you could not insert a piece of tissue paper between them, the Father of his Country suddenly turned his face to the wall as if he was ashamed to gaze upon such doings. Henry with a sudden start, glanced at the picture, and saw the handwriting on the wall, as it were, which read "1 o'clock is Sallie's bedtime." Then Henry looked at Sallie with an interrogation in his eye, which was partly dispelled by the fair maid murmuring, "It's all right." Henry said of course it was all right—that he had long known one o'clock was her bed time, and he thought it was plenty late enough, too, for a young girl to be out of bed, but what business, he said, had Washington's portrait to be flopping about in that way? Then Sallie explained—and the twain resumed work on the problem, Henry putting his arm around Sallie to prevent her falling off the chair.

Meanwhile the old man was listening for the front door to open, and his would-be-son-in-law's footsteps pattering over the pavement with the toes of his boots pointing from the house. These sounds not falling upon his ears, and thinking the old thing didn't work right, he gave the string another pull, and George W. again faced the audience. Then he listened, but he heard no footsteps—nothing but a peculiar sound, something resembling the popping of champagne corks.

Then he grew cross, and gave the string another jerk, causing G. W. to turn about with violent suddenness, just as if he was dreadfully out of humor too.

And still all is quiet below—except that popping sound.

Then the string was pulled again—and again—and again—indicating that the old fellow was just ready to explode with rage. And for fully fifteen minutes did he have the portrait of the man who couldn't tell a lie turning excited flip-flaps and things on the wall, like a bewitched gymnast, until he fell asleep exhausted—Sallie's father fell asleep, not the portrait.

Henry kissed Sallie good-night at one o'clock a. m., remarking, as he did so, that it would seem like a long, long weary year ere he would see her again—because, you know, he didn't expect to see her again until the evening of that day.

The next morning her father examined that portrait, and when he fully understood the situation he was pained. He shed a silent tear, detached the string, sponged out the inscription and walked away with the weight of fifty-five years on his shoulders—that being his age. He says a girl who will go back on her father that way would just as lief as not disgrace her parents by marrying a Congressman. B. DADD.

HOW TROTTING COLTS ARE TRAINED.

Backman's Stables at Stony Ford.

From the New York World.

The colts at Mr. Backman's place are generally bitted and broken when they are two years old. They are first broken without a vehicle; next they are harnessed without a vehicle; next they are hitched to a skeleton wagon. After they get thoroughly "wonted" to the wagon, they begin to take their regular exercise. All through this initiatory period they are handled as carefully as if they were so many babies. The utmost care is taken not to startle or frighten them, but for weeks or months they are never urged much beyond their natural gait. Any disposition towards a canter is, of course, instantly checked; the trot is the only style of locomotion practiced at Stony Ford. The eyes of owners and trainers are, meanwhile, watchfully fixed on every animal. The talent of each is usually discovered by graded experiment, though sometimes it is manifested eccentrically, or by accident. Mr. Backman, seated in his cane-bottomed chair, at the angle of his stable next the track, has grown so expert at detecting the pace at which horses pass him, that he can in most instances, without looking at his watch, announce within three seconds the time in which a horse trotted a mile. He is invariably able to tell within a second or so the rate at which a horse goes by on the track. Such accuracy of eye and time-keeping enables him to detect, quite as readily as the driver, an extraordinary access of speed on the part of the colt in training. There are some interesting cases of colts showing gala "time" all of a sudden after weeks of jog trotting. Whenever this show of "talent" is distinguished the colt is singled out and treated with special consideration. His exercise, his toilet, are most scrupulously attended to. He is not pushed, however. He is coddled, humored, guided, coaxed. The object while he is in the stable, is to fit him for the best work. When he is on the track the aim of the trainer is to develope his natural bent towards blow, a single error in his management might spoil him forever. Patience, firmness and skill at length accomplish the desired end. The colt "learns his gait," keeps it, and by and by improves on it of his own volition. Now is the time for a little urging, a little encouragement. The tyro is "given his first quarter," that is, he is put to his utmost trotting speed for a quarter of a mile. He begins to be conscious of his power, to rejoice in it. He uses his legs as if he meant to get along. Instead of the high dancing, "knee-gait," so much admired in a fancy carriage horse, he adopts a long direct stride. The force formerly expended in lifting the legs is now used more to the purpose in reaching them forward and gathering up the ground. A steady, musical step, which with some horses is born, not made, and with others may be cultivated, lends enchantment to the motion of the improving trotter. Every morning he goes out for exercise, and twice a week (Wednesdays and Saturdays) he is put at his best speed. His strength and age next warrant the trainer in "giving him half a mile." At last he gets a mile. When at the height of his training his food is measured with a nicety apportioned to his work and condition. His diet of grain is generous enough, but his rations of hay are quite moderate. The long, lean, gamy form of the trotting horse enable him to do such travelling as he could never do if he were puffed out with feed so as to interfere with the full play of his loins and haunches.

NEVADA "ROAD AGENTS."

How they "Go Through" a Stage Load of Passengers.

The Virginia Enterprise gives the following particulars, as related by a passenger, of the robbery of the Susanville stage:

"The driver remarked, 'There is a possibility of meeting them to-night; so, boys, you had better be ready.' We thought no more about it until we were stopped a mile out of town. Our first intimation of trouble was the report of firearms and the stopping of the stage. After several shots had been exchanged by the passengers and highwaymen, Stresly halloed 'enough.' Five more shots were fired into the stage after we had surrendered. Then one of the robbers got into the stage and ordered us to disembark and to hold up our hands, which request we reluctantly complied with, he all the while covering us with his pistol. I noticed that his hand was shaking badly, and told him to be careful or his pistol would go off and hurt me, and remarked to him that I was hit in the leg already. He replied, 'My boy, you are lucky if I don't hit you through the head.' Presently another one came round from the off to the near side and covered us with his pistol. The third highwayman went up and searched the boot for the treasure box, which he did not find, as there was none on board. The driver played possum on the thieves by pretending he was killed. To keep up this impression he lay stretched out on his seat and was not disturbed. The robbers next made a thorough search inside of the stage, tearing open bundles, parcels, etc. I should have stated that while the shooting was going on I took my purse, containing $800 in notes and gold coin out of my pocket and threw it in the direction of the robber. While the thieves were passing parcels out of the stage to the one who was covering us with his pistol, Stresly lowered his right hand to his pantaloons pocket and extracted his purse containing $200 in coin, dropping it on the ground and covering it with his foot. The man on guard saw him with his hand lowered and ordered him to raise it, using at the time very emphatic language. After the robber had prospected the stage thoroughly he came out in front of us. He was the largest man of the three. Appearing to recognize myself he turned his face away from me and told the smallest man to go through us. The one with the soldier-coat kept his pistol on us all the while the little fellow was searching us. During the search Morrison kept saying to the other one, 'Go down into their boots.' They got $81.50 in coin and a knife and pistol off of Bloody; from Stresly they captured nothing but a Deringer, and from myself they got also it $47 in coin, together with a pistol and shot-gun. After finishing their work they ordered us into the stage and started off in the direction of town. There were from twenty to twenty-five shots fired during the fracas. The casualties were as follows: One horse shot through the neck, Stresly shot through the hat, McCready shot through the hat, together with a flesh wound on the leg. The stage-coach was riddled with bullets. As soon as the robbers left the driver said to us: 'Help me to get the horse up: they have gone back to town, and let us get in ahead of them if we can.' We hitched up the two wheelers and returned to town, one of the passengers riding the uninjured leader and leading the other. On arriving in town we gave the alarm and got out the Sheriff, who returned with us to the scene of the robbery. My purse was picked up within fifteen feet of the stage. Stresly's was also recovered both having escaped the notice of the robbers. After completing my journey I returned to Reno on Tuesday last was subpoenaed as a witness upon a preliminary examination of Andrew Morrison and Clement Lee, which came off in the Justice's Court in Reno, day before yesterday. Clement Lee was held to await the action of the grand jury in the sum of $5,000. The examination of Morrison was continued yesterday. It was proven on the examination that Morrison and Lee, on the night previous to the robbery, stopped at Brown's ranch, nine miles south of Reno—getting supper and feeding their horses. On the same evening, between ten and eleven o'clock, Kincaid, hearing some noise about his premises, walked from his house in a southerly direction, to the head of the flume, and found Morrison and Lee there. On asking them what they were doing there, Morrison replied with an oath that it was none of his (Kincaid's) business. Morrison was wearing at the time a blue army overcoat and Lee had on a drab colored one. The same coats were identified by the passengers as having worn at the time of the robbery. A pistol was described and identified by McCready as the one held over him by Clement Lee. At the time of the robbery the highwaymen were partially masked. While the passengers were made to disgorge their valuables, Lee relieved his mind as follows, addressing his remarks to the passengers: 'You seem to think you will come it over us as you did over Beaver and Bedford, Roberts (referring to a previous attempt at robbing the Susanville stage), but I will shoot the head off every one of you first."

Each joint carefully inspected, reamed at end and proved with the sockets on a hydraulic pressure of 1,200 pounds to the square inch before shipment.

NewspaperARCHIVE®

The Morning Herald.

Friday, Sept. 20, 1872.

Clasping Hands.

That the election of Horace Greeley is dreaded by the loyal men of the South—white as well as black, we have every reason to believe. They accept the situation in good faith. They want to see the present business prosperity restored; they want to bury old issues; they invite emigration and capital from the North; they like the new order of things, and do not wish to see the waters of political bitterness and strife again let out, and the sections arrayed against each other.

Settling "the Maine Question."

The Tribune has at last some qualms of conscience over its desperate figuring on the election returns from Maine. Before the Maine election the Tribune claimed some 5,000 Liberals in that State; now the Tribune says:

"The returns give Perham 71,834; Kimball 54,742; majority for Perham, 17,082—an increase of 6,000 to 7,000 over the majority of last year, and a little more than double the average Republican majority at Gubernatorial elections of the last three years."

To do as well as Maine—"to double our majority" in Pennsylvania is what Pennsylvania will do.

Campaign Notes.

—The determination of Mr. Greeley to follow his own advice and "go West," is only paralleled by the folly of the doctor who swallowed his own physic.

—The Republicans do not need Horace in Ohio, as they will carry it without his assistance. We want him to croon and maunder in Indiana, for it is a closer State.—Toledo Blade.

—The Cincinnati Times has information that H. G. is going to that city to mount his "bloody chasm upon wheels." This is only the Cincinnati way of announcing that he is going there as its "spokesman."

—It is a singular and suggestive fact that every so-called Liberal Republican of any reputation put up as a candidate for office at the recent election in Maine is defeated. There is not a spared monument among them.

—Vagarious elderly men, with bees in their bonnets, underdone young men, enthusiasts of all ages and sizes and sexes, with imperfect control over their mental processes, have always had a natural fondness for the Sage, says the New York Nation.

—The Liberals in Texas are in a rage over the entire disregard of their claims to office by the Democratic State Convention, which nominated for office only old-time Democrats. Their outcries are met, however, with derision by the Democrats.

—Thomas P. Herndon, the Greeley candidate for Governor of Alabama, was a member of the Secessionist Convention of that State, and introduced a measure in that convention to deprive all foreigners of the right of citizenship in Alabama.

—The most obvious feature of the Greeley movement, says the Indianapolis Journal, is the rapidity with which it is lapsing into Democratic direction and possession. There is hardly a streak of Liberalism in it. Inside and outside it is Democratic. The main element has absorbed its feeble adjunct.

—The account of Carl Schurz as Minister to Spain has been adjusted by the Fifth Auditor of the Treasury, and a balance certified against him of $1,013.91. The account will be certified by the Comptroller and suit at once commenced against Schurz for the balance. There is nothing like giving these Reform doctors a little dose of their own medicine.

—Alas!

Hating Southern Democrats
Only loving old white hats;
Ready to embrace a schism,
And go wild on my ism.
Cautious still to gather pelf—
Ever mindful of himself;
Given much to curse and swear,
Ready yet to join in prayer.
Everything to suit the hour,
Ever courting place and power;
Living oft to serve his best,
Yet never to be President.

Persons and Things.

—Lucca is the mother of two children.

—Howard, the English tragedian, has been hissed off the Bowery stage.

—The new grand opera house at Paris will be the finest in the world.

—Three grandsons of President Harrison are now living at La Cygne, Kan.

—The new office and building of the St. Louis Republican will cost $250,000.

—Six acres of land and a newly developed spring at Saratoga were sold for $15,000.

—To be exact, the number of paupers in London on the third week of August was 101,743.

—Sothern has been elected a trustee of the royal general theatrical fund in place of Charles Dickens.

—Lord Shaftsbury has given a tea party, and is trying to raise a benefit fund for the water-cress girls of London.

—One Mr. Delsol, a wealthy Frenchman, stimulated by Mr. Stanley's sudden renown, is going to find Dr. Livingstone again.

—A new English game called winder is described as a poor imitation of croquet. It is played with small square blocks and stones.

—Prince Bismarck always promenades in full uniform, with gloves and sword, and merely nods to those who doff when he approaches.

—The Jewish Messenger wants Stanley to hunt up the lost tribes of Israel. They have been away from home only about twenty-five centuries.

—About $75,000,000 worth of fuel is burned yearly in the United States, and $100,000,000 worth of lumber used in building and manufactures.

—Since the "petroleuses" of the Commune have been found to be nearly all old women, their incendiarism is attributed to kerosenile dementia.

—The death is announced, in his eighty-third year, of Captain W. D. Evans, well known among chess players as the inventor of the "Evans' Gambit."

—A couple of venerable English magistrates at Norwich recently had a rough and tumble contest in court, and rolled together on the floor before they were separated.

—The payment by Kaiser Wilhelm of $200 for an autograph letter of Washington is expected to stimulate the production of original epistles by the Father of his country.

—A thrifty young man procured a marriage license a few days ago with the condition that if he failed to get the girl he was to be refunded half the fee on returning the document.

—Domestic help in Oregon has been supplied for some time by an enterprising agent at Dundee, Scotland. The young girls sent out are said to be steady and industrious, and very much in demand.

—Miss Faithfull, of London, during her visit to this country, intends to make inquiries into the regulations governing the employment of women in factories. She will be absent from home about a year.

—A Jewish paper records the death of a beautiful Circassian slave, for whom a wealthy Musselman of high rank paid £5,700. She is supposed to have been poisoned through the jealousy of some less favored inmate of the harem.

—The Christian Review believes that ministers are bound to obey the ten commandments as well as laymen, and they have no right to work seven days in the week. As they cannot take Sunday in their day they should set apart some other day.

—A lad at Westchester, Pa., was recently floated through the main sewer of the town and landed in a pleasant meadow some distance away, not dangerously injured but fearfully demoralized. He thinks the green pastures are all right, but the "still waters" are not to his taste.

—There is a perpendicular ledge one hundred and fifty feet high on the shore of a pond in Barrington, from the brink of which it is difficult to throw stones into the pond on account of a powerful attraction drawing the stones to the base of the ledge. So says a correspondent of the Wolfeborough News.

BY TELEGRAPH

Associated Press Dispatches.

NEW YORK.

Names Struck off the Roll.

NEW YORK, September 19.

The Tammany Committee yesterday struck from the rolls of the organization the names of one hundred men whose political conduct was objectionable.

O'Conor.

Rumors were current yesterday that the various organizations had determined to unite on the name of Charles O'Conor for Mayor, but they were subsequently dispelled by an authoritative statement of O'Conor that under no circumstances would he accept the nomination.

The Stamp Defalcation.

The Times says that the amount of the defalcation of J. J. Johnston, head of the stamp division in the Assistant Treasurer's office of this city, though not precisely known, cannot exceed $185,000, and may be considerably less. It is not fully known how his fraud was accomplished and concealed, but it is probable that Johnston made false reports of stamps, which were not examined into with promptitude, so that the fraud became extensive before any suspicion was awakened. Johnston was some years ago connected with the Argus newspaper, at Albany. Detectives are now in search of him. Johnston is said to be a man of great respectability, and it is alleged it will probably be found that he has frittered away his money in Wall street operations. He was reported on Tuesday to have left for Maine on a vacation. His confederates in the fraud have not yet been ascertained.

Congressional Nomination.

At Burlington, New Jersey, yesterday, Samuel A. Forker, Democrat, was nominated for Congress by the Democrats and Liberal Republicans.

Assistant treasurer Hill House states the amount of defalcation of Johnson, will not exceed one hundred thousand, nor fall below 180,000 dollars. He regards the disclosure as premature, as should any of Johnston's friends know of his location they will not disclose it.

Failures.

The failure of G. D. Murro, is announced at the stock exchange to-day, and two mercantile failures are also announced, one in the grocery trade and the other in Demorara trade.

Meeting of the Committee of Seventy.

The Committee of Seventy met at the Chamber of Commerce to-day, and were addressed by President Havemyer, who advocated the reform in the Legislature. He opposed further passage of laws authorizing the issue of bonds for the benefit of any department of this city, and favored the placing of all departments under the supervision of the common council.

Bonds Required.

It is understood that bonds are required of Assistant Treasurer Hillhouse by the government to cover the amount of defalcation by Johnston, and that bondsmen of Hillhouse will be held responsible for the loss.

Meeting of Blacksmiths' and Machinists.

ALBANY, September 19.

The Machinists' and Blacksmiths' International Convention, which met here yesterday with closed doors, succeeded in effecting an organization this morning. Twenty-four States and Territories and the Canadas were represented. The remainder of the business will be transacted with open doors.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Boiler Explosion.

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 19.

A dredge exploded her boiler in the harbor this afternoon, killing one man and seriously injuring another.

The attendance on the second day of the State Fair was very large in the morning, but the rain about noon interfered somewhat with the exhibition.

State Fair.

The Pennsylvania State Fair at this place will continue to and include Saturday. The display of exhibitors will remain intact, as everything is now in complete working order, and the weather has changed for the better.

Military Review.

Gov. Geary and staff reviewed the Twentieth Division, National Guard, here to-day. Sixteen companies were represented by Major Gen. Hundekooper. The display was brilliant and imposing. Gov. Geary and others addressed the troops.

Distinguished Visitors.

The Earls of Dufferin and Clanderbay, Governor General of Canada, with his ministers, have signified their intention of visiting the State Fair here to-morrow (Friday.) The attendance was much larger to-day than on previous days, notwithstanding the heavy rains. In consequence of the storm the fair will be continued to Saturday, on which day the most important races will take place.

Congressman Scofield

disposes of the credit mobilier slander, so far as it concerns him, in to-morrow's Dispatch. He says he never received a cent of stock in the company.

Accident to Gen. Allen.

General Allen, candidate for Auditor General, had his foot crushed, though not badly, by being pushed under a passing train at the depot this afternoon.

MISSOURI.

Arrested for Embezzlement.

ST. LOUIS, September 19.

Captain Charles Kinsey, clerk in the post-office here, was arrested to-day for embezzling $1,100 worth of stamps.

State Fair.

Preparations for the annual fair of the St. Louis Agricultural and Mechanical Association, which will commence October 3rd and continue nine days, is rapidly progressing. Already a large number of entries have been made. Great variety of articles will come from various county districts and State Fairs in the surrounding States, and the finest stock will come from Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and other States. Prospects are that the exhibition and number of visitors will great exceed any previous year.

OHIO.

Resolutions Passed.

CINCINNATI, September 19.

The Ohio River Improvement Convention adjourned this afternoon, after, among other business, passing resolutions requesting the Governors of States bordering on the Ohio river to present the subject of improving the river in their messages to the Legislatures, and to appropriate money to defray the expenses of the convention. The next meeting will be held here on the 20th of November, this year.

The Exposition.

The Exposition was visited by 25,000 people to-day. The receipts were nearly $5,000.

LONG BRANCH.

Settlement of the Alabama Claims Satisfactory to President Grant.

LONG BRANCH, September 19.

At Long Branch President Grant expressed himself to a reporter as pleased with the result of the Alabama Claims Arbitration settlement. The contest, in his opinion, was not for dollars and cents, but the preservation of unity between the two countries, with full and firm maintenance of our national dignity. These points having been achieved, our nation should be satisfied.

Leaves for Washington.

The President leaves next Wednesday for Washington.

ARKANSAS.

Couldn't Agree.

LITTLE ROCK, September 19.

The convention held by the Liberal Republicans and Democrats of this county adjourned without effecting a coalition of forces. The Democrats would not agree to the arrangement made by the Liberals, and the result will be that both parties will nominate full tickets for county and district officers.

Pope County.

Nothing has been heard from Pope county for several days, and it is believed that the disturbances there have been quieted.

MARYLAND.

Lodge of Odd Fellows in Session.

BALTIMORE, September 19.

The Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows was occupied during the morning session to-day in considering the report of the committee on correspondence in favor of granting charters to a number of lodges in Prussia and Saxony, and constituting them a sovereignty under the title of Grand Lodge of the German Empire, to be independent of this Grand Lodge, except it shall not alter any part of the written or unwritten book of the order. Pending the consideration of the report, a recess was taken.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Fire.

BOSTON, September 19.

The fire in Wreatham this morning destroyed the bank building occupied by the Wreatham Bank; also, by Messrs. Dunkleo & Muir, boot manufacturers. Loss, twenty-one thousand dollars.

Labor Reform Nomination.

The Labor Reformers of the fifth district nominated James M. Buffum, of Lynn, for Congress. In a final ballot Buffum had forty-nine votes, Banks seventeen, Gooch, four.

INDIANA.

Democratic State Convention.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., September 19.

The straight-out Democratic State Convention met in the Senate Chamber this afternoon at two o'clock, and was called to order by Mayor N. C. Morran. On his motion Dr. Sherrod, of Orange County, was unanimously chosen chairman. About one hundred persons were present in the hall. On taking the chair Dr. Sherrod said that he would not detain the convention with a speech as we have assembled for the purpose of re-organizing and re-baptising the Democratic party of the State of Indiana, and would at once proceed to the business before the convention. Committees were then appointed to report candidates for a State ticket and electors for the State at large and State Central Committee, and to prepare an address to the Democracy of the State. A resolution was offered by Major Morrean, and was unanimously adopted, in endorsing the candidates for President and Vice President nominated at the Louisville Convention, and recommending them to the support of the Democracy of Indiana. Mr. Smith, of Wells Company, claiming to be a Democrat, who would not support the Greeley and Brown ticket, which was read for information, recommending that no nominations be made for the State ticket and that the convention endorse and support the State ticket nominated on the 12th of June. The chair decided the resolution out of order, the convention having already appointed a committee to report a State ticket. The committee to select a State ticket reported the following, which was unanimously concurred in: For Governor, A. P. Edgerton; Lieutenant Governor, Green Durbin; Secretary of State, Alfred Parsons; Auditor of State, Otto Boettieher; Treasurer of State, Dr. McBride; Attorney General, Thomas Branham; Congressmen at Large, Major W. An attempt was made to break up the meeting by a few Greeley roughs, but through the efforts of the public order was restored and Mr. Moreau was permitted to finish his speech. He was followed by Dr. Sherrod, President of the State Convention, when the meeting adjourned.

Indian Ravages.

SALT LAKE, September 19.

A published correspondence between Gen. Morrow and Sprail and Indian Agent Dodge show that the Indians have run off more than two hundred head of stock and killed and wounded several leaders. Morrow says not another American community would endure half the outrages they have suffered without rising up and driving out the savages by the point of the bayonet, and would have been justified. Governor Prockmadon forbids any assemblage of armed men in the territory. Dodge and Morrow agree to reimburse the sufferers, but shall compel the reservation Indians to restore their stolen horses.

Disease Recoils from the system that has been invigorated and regulated by a course of that most beneficent of all vegetable elixirs, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Such, at least, is the inference we are compelled to draw from the testimony of thousands of persons residing in unhealthy districts, who attribute their escape from the epidemic and other complaints which prevail there in the spring and autumn solely to the use of this great protective and preventive medicine. Many Western and Southern farmers and planters, as invariably as they sow and plant in the spring and reap and gather in the fall, administer it at those seasons to their families and employe, and take it themselves from twice to three times a day. The demand for it in the fever and ague districts bordering on the Mississippi, Ohio and Arkansas Rivers, is immense; and wherever the natural conditions are such as to generate intermittent or remittent fevers, it is held in the highest esteem, both as an antidote to the atmospheric virus which provokes them, and as a swift and certain remedy for those distressing forms of disease. It is almost unnecessary to say that this renowned tonic and renovator is now generally accepted as a standard specific for indigestion, biliousness, nervous distemper, rheumatism, physical weakness and mental despondency, not only by the public at large, but by all unprejudiced medical men. The vast popularity of the Bitters has of course led to many counterfeits and imitations, against which the community are requested to be on their guard.

Money and Stock Market.

NEW YORK, September 19.

Money has been in active demand to-day, though the extreme rates are lower than yesterday, in spite of the backing up of the operators of the "gold clique." A greater number of borrowers in the stock market were supplied at 7 per cent. gold, though there were some transactions at 1-16 and even ½ per day. By half-past two, however, the rate had fallen to 5@6 per cent per annum, with an exceptional transaction at 4 per cent. Several banks had checks presented for payment for which the presenters demanded greenbacks which they presumed were put in private safes. The Bank of Commerce refused to cash certified checks in greenbacks from three houses in the gold clique in favor of Henry N. Smith, amounting in the aggregate to eight hundred thousand dollars, which was supposed to be locked up, on the ground that he had engaged in conspiracy, and that the bank would not pay except through regular exchanges from the clearing house as customary.

Sterling dull and unsettled; long sight at 107½@107⅝; short sight at 108⅞@109.

Gold very active and excited; opened at 113⅝, fell to 113⅜, advanced to 115⅛ and closed very strong at 115@115⅛. Offers were made after four o'clock of 115¼.

Loans were made at 3-32 to flat for use and 2@4 per cent. for carrying.

Clearings to-day, $12,000,000.

Treasury disbursed to-day $32,000.

The Treasury also issued $220,000 legal tender certificates.

The government sold only $1,000,000 gold at 114@114.01. Nearly all was taken by the clique, who bid 114 for $4,000,000 out of the total bids of $10,000,000. The announcement of the sale of $1,000,000 caused great excitement in the gold room and a rapid rise in the afternoon, but it is plain that sales of more by the treasury would only result to advantage to the clique, and that price found under such action reached 115⅛ before night.

Governments strong and in sympathy with gold and closing about ⅛ per cent. above the opening rates.

State bonds dull and unchanged.

The stock market has been feverish and excited all day with frequent fluctuations, but there was a better feeling in the afternoon despite the efforts of the gold clique to depress prices. The amount of business was less than for the past few days, but still large at the opening. Prices advanced generally ½@1½ per cent., but afterwards declined ½@2½ per cent. In the afternoon a portion of the decline was observed, but the market finally reacted under the hammering of the bear clique. Erie continued the special feature and borrowers paid ¼ to 1¼ per cent for its use for to-day's deliveries. The lowest rates at the closing pric fluctuated between 55@52⅞c cash, and 54@52⅛ regular. The corner shows no sign of breaking, and the strongest speculators on the street are now contesting in the stock. Pacific Mail was the next most active stock, fluctuating between 68⅞@67¼. Late in the day it suddenly fell under; sales from 68½ to 67⅞. Union Pacific was active at 39⅞ to 38½, and is the strongest stock on the list and is believed to be cornered. C. C. & I. C. though lower was also very strong and the corner still rumored in in it, and business otherwise was well distributed. The whole market closed pretty steady.

The New American Hot-Blast Cook.

This Famous Stove is beyond question the most perfect baker and cooker known to the trade. The design and finish very ornamental, castings heavy, bakes and cooks under all circumstances, no trouble to run, can always be depended upon, and is the joy and pleasure of every housewife who has used one. Among the improvements for 1872, we note the Augmenting Hot Air Chest, into which air for supporting combustion is taken from above, making it a reservoir and self-acting blower. This hot blast arrangement produces the most astonishing results in economy of fuel, perfect combustion, and ability to hold the fire from twenty-four to forty-eight hours. It has also the Sifting Ash Grate, Cast Iron Enamel, or Galvanized, and Iron-clad Low Copper Reservoir.

THE WHEAT SHEAF—This is our old Standard Stove. Costs much less than the American, is a perfect cooker and baker, well made and finished.

We have also the following well known Cook Stoves, with and without Reservoirs.

STEWART IMPROVED, IRON GATE, ADVANCE, DEFIANCE, FOREST OAK, STANDARD, HELPER, CAPTAIN CUTTLE, RELIABLE, DICTATOR, GARDEN CITY, HOME PRIDE, HARMONY, NATIONAL, CLIPPER, FIRE QUEEN, and a great variety of every kind, size and price.

Titusville Pipe Company.

NOTICE.

OFFICE OF THE TITUSVILLE PIPE CO.,
TITUSVILLE, PA., June 19, 1872.

Oil is received by this Company for TRANSPORTATION ONLY NOT FOR STORAGE. It is ready for delivery to the owner within twenty-four hours, after its receipt by the company, and any liability incurred by the company, ceases upon the expiration of twenty four hours. Owners of oil are expected to remove it with promptness, and if not so removed, it remains entirely at the OWNER'S RISK OF LOSS FROM WHAT SOEVER CAUSE OCCURRING.

All oils now in the company's tanks which shall not be removed therefrom within two months from the date of its receipt by the company, will be subject to an additional charge of one cent per barrel per day from the date of its receipt until its removal.

All oil hereafter received by the company, which shall be allowed to remain in its tanks longer than one month, shall be subject to an additional charge of one cent per barrel per day from the date of its receipt until its removl.

Receipts will be issued for oil. Orders upon the company will not be recognized.

This company has tankage amply sufficient for all the reasonable requirements of its customers, and is disposed to afford them all the facilities in its power; but of late our tanks have been overcrowded by the failure of owners to remove their oil, to the great inconvenience of producers along our line who have been unable to get oil removed from their wells.

To remedy this difficulty and still meet all the legitimate wants of producers and the trade the above system of additional charges has been adopted.

Lake House,

STONEBORO, Mercer County, Pa.

This celebrated house has been recently refurnished, and will be open for the reception of guests on Monday, June 10, 1872. Persons wishing to engage rooms, or obtain other information, may address SAM'L ROSENBURG, Stoneboro, Pa.

This favorite summer resort is delightfully situated a few rods from Sandy Lake, the most beautiful sheet of water in Pennsylvania, and is well stocked with fish; pleasure boats and fishing tackle of all kind under the charge of an experienced sailing master. Have refitted the billiard room and ten pin alley in first class style. Also, a barber shop, bath room and livery stable are connected with this favorite summer resort. Seekers for health, as well as for recreation and fine rural scenery, will find in the Chalybeate Spring on the grounds, all the virtues of tonic treatment found at the most celebrated watering places. By chemical analysis, one gallon of water was found to contain 10.80 grains of mineral substances, consisting principally of carbonate of lime, held in solution by carbonic acid gas, associated with small quantities of carbonate of protoxide of iron, sulphate of magnesia, chloride of sodium, and traces of silicia and organic matter. The analysis was made by the Professor of Chemistry in the Laboratory of the Philadelphia University of Medicine and Surgery.
